

ABSTRACT

Compositions and methods for alleviating the symptoms associated with muscle pain in general or muscle wasting are provided. The compositions are based on use of androgens,
5 either alone or in combination with other hormones, including growth hormone.